Farmingville, NY – On October 20, Councilwomen Jane Bonner and Valarie M. Cartright attended the ribbon cutting ceremony for the newly constructed library and reading nook at the Our Lady of Wisdom Regional School located in Port Jefferson. The keynote speaker was Richard Specht, a local author from Sound Beach. The book he showcased was "A Little Rees Specht, Cultivating Kindness," which he read to the children and donated to the library.

Councilwoman Bonner said, "I applaud the volunteers, donors and parents who were instrumental in making this library for the students, by the students' a reality. They have created a wonderfully unique, learning environment where reading matters. A special place that will have a positive impact on children, now and for the rest of their lives."

"It was an honor to join OLOW at the Ribbon Cutting for their newly constructed library and reading nook. Reading is such an important foundation for our students and adults. I am sure this new area will be a place of retreat, discovery, imagination and learning for all students," stated Councilwoman Cartright. "Thank you to all the parents and community volunteers who made this possible."
